THE SURPRISING LINK BETWEEN PILLOWCASES AND AGING

“YOUR PILLOWCASE COULD BE AGING YOU 10 YEARS OVERNIGHT,” WARNS DERMATOLOGIST

Jan 10 2025 at 9:17 am EDT

What one frustrated woman discovered after wasting hundreds on anti-aging creams changed everything about her morning reflection—and it had nothing to do with a new serum or costly procedure. Her accidental discovery has now helped thousands of women fight what dermatologists call “sleep-induced aging”.

WARNING: This story will make you change the way you sleep and the way you look when you wake up!

My name is Sarah Ashworth. The first thing you should know about me is that I'm not a dermatologist.

I'm not an expert on skincare either.

But 3 years ago, I discovered an amazing skincare product in the last place I expected - my bedroom.

I never used to worry about my skin. Dove soap was the extent of my skincare routine.

But once I turned 40, something changed. For the first time, I looked in the mirror and didn't like what I saw.

It was as if I hit a certain age and the universe said, "Ok, it's time to get old..."

But I didn't feel old. I felt so young. I had 3 kids under the age of 10 running around. I didn't want to look 50 when I just turned 40!

Every morning, I woke up with dull skin, creases, and split-ends that seemed to appear out of nowhere.

I was determined to get back my youthful face. I tried every new cream, serum, and moisturizer on the market. I spent hundreds of dollars. I even tried Face Yoga (something I saw on Youtube...)

But nothing worked for me. No matter what I did, my skin didn't look any better.

One day, I was complaining to a friend of mine who just so happened to be a dermatologist.

She's my age and doesn't look a day over 30. I figured she was using a mixture of things to look so young: Expensive treatments, a $250+ cream, and more...all the things I couldn't afford.

But maybe she would know of a good, reasonably-priced cream to try?

"Sarah," she said. "Have you ever thought your pillowcase might be to blame?"

"My pillowcase?" I asked. "What could that possibly be doing to my face?"

She laughed. "It's probably making you look 10 years older than you are."

Little did I know, my gorgeous friend with her gorgeous skin had been withholding some interesting information from me (not too happy about that!). She discovered after lots of research, a silk pillowcase.

She explained that my cotton pillowcase could be the problem, basically ruining my face (my face isn't actually ruined but you know what I mean...).

So I decided to do my own research.. I found out that cotton pillowcases get covered with dead skin cells, oils, saliva, sweat and all sorts of bacteria, making them a dust mite breeding ground and pore-clogging machine.

All the expensive creams I was using at night were basically useless, because they all rubbed away on a cotton pillowcase.

Plus, she said, the friction from cotton was actually aggravating my skin, leading her to believe the dry skin, creases, and breakouts I was complaining about was caused by my old pillowcase.

I immediately went home, threw my old pillowcase away, and bought the one she recommended.

I was completely shocked at what a difference it made.

Blissy was a gorgeous, soft, luxurious silk pillowcase.

The first night, I even felt the difference. It was like sleeping on a cloud. The pillowcase was so soft. I got the best night's sleep that I've had in a long time.

And when I woke up? My skin was clear and moisturized. It felt as soft as that pillowcase.

Over the next week, as I continued to use the Blissy Pillowcase, things seemed to have gotten even better. I slept better. Felt better. My skin felt like a baby's bum.

The small splotch of middle-aged breakouts was gone. By the end of the month, my wrinkles weren't as prominent. The skin around my eyes was softer, yet firmer.

And after 6 months? I looked like I was in my early 30's again (not didn't shave 10 years off of my life but the confidence it gave me, made me feel as if I had)

I was out to dinner with a group of girlfriends (including the dermatologist) and was asked 3 separate times what new cream I was using.

My dermatologist friend laughed, as I explained it wasn't a cream - it was a pillowcase.

I didn't just feel like I had lost 10 years off my face. everything seemed to have gotten better:

I woke up without a stuffy nose. Because silk doesn't harbor bacteria and dust mites, my sinuses were finally clear.

My hair looked beautiful. Traditional pillowcases tug at your strands and cause damage and hair loss. But silk nourishes hair while you sleep. So you wake up with shiny strands.

No more toxic stuff leaking into my body at night. Blissy pillowcases are not treated with any harmful or toxic chemicals. (I felt much better knowing this.)

I want you to understand how game-changing this pillowcase is.

Final Thoughts
